

PROF. MUNSTERBERG DIES IN CLASS ROOM

Harvard Educator Stricken
While Addressing Sixty
Radcliffe Girls.

NOTED AS PSYCHOLOGIST

Was Active Defender of the Cause of Germany in the Present War.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 16.—Hugo Munsterberg, of Harvard, one of the most widely known of the world's psychologists, died suddenly today in the midst of a lecture to sixty young women of Radcliffe College.

Apparently in perfect health, he entered the class room and talked for more than half an hour in his usual manner. The lecture was observed to hesitate a moment, and he turned toward the door, as if to steady himself. An instant later he collapsed and fell to the floor, his hand sweeping his watch and eyeglasses from the desk as he collapsed.

Dr. Harold E. Burr sprang to Dr. Munsterberg's side, but the eminent psychologist was unconscious. His last words were those he had been speaking to his class. He died within twenty minutes. Class sessions at Radcliffe were suspended for the day.

Prof. Munsterberg had engaged in his usual activities up to the time he was stricken. Except for the fact that the Harvard war was giving him great concern because of his strong adherence to the German cause, there was no reason to believe that his health had been affected by his work. He had lectured last Monday night on "The Psychology of Business" before the Chamber of Commerce at Brockton.

The funeral will be held at the family residence at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. The Rev. Adolph A. Berle, one of Prof. Munsterberg's intimate friends, will officiate at the service, which will be held in the German language. George F. Moore of Harvard will deliver a eulogy.

The body will be cremated in accordance with the wish of Prof. Munsterberg and after the war the ashes will be shipped to Germany.

—Sketch of His Life.

Hugo Munsterberg was moved to say last night in one of the periods in which he was subjected to American criticism for his ardent advocacy of the German cause. "I am a German and have never been able to do anything else," he had said in a lecture last night. "I have been a German since I was born, and I shall remain a German as long as I live." He had said this in a lecture last night on "The Psychology of Business" before the Chamber of Commerce at Brockton.

Although feeling against Dr. Munsterberg's high opinion of the last two years, he indicated by his resignation from the Harvard faculty—a resignation which President Lowell declined to accept—and a second demand for his resignation, that he was not a German. He had said this in a lecture last night on "The Psychology of Business" before the Chamber of Commerce at Brockton.

At Harvard 24 Years.

His functions as a psychologist were not high at first, but his war-time activity as a propagandist, but the public will remember that it was his gift for theatricalizing science, applying it to the conditions of the war, that made him a popular figure. He had said this in a lecture last night on "The Psychology of Business" before the Chamber of Commerce at Brockton.

Prof. Munsterberg was born in Danzig on June 21, 1863, the son of Moritz Munsterberg. In 1882 he was graduated from the Danzig gymnasium and for five years thereafter he studied at Leipzig and Heidelberg. Leipzig made him a Ph.D. and Heidelberg a doctor of medicine. In 1887 he became an instructor and assistant professor at the University of Freiburg and in the same year he married Helma Oppler of Strasbourg.

In 1892, at the suggestion of Prof. Wilhelm James, President Eliot invited him to come to Harvard as an assistant professor of psychology and he accepted. Twelve years later he declined to return to Germany, but was persuaded to stay at Harvard by Dr. Royce. Subsequently he declined several invitations to join the faculties of German universities, including the University of Konigsberg, to which the German Government called.

him in 1905 to fill the chair which had been occupied for thirty years by the philosopher Immanuel Kant. In 1910 he did return to Germany, but it was only for a year, as he had been elected professor at the University of Berlin and to organize the American Institute at the request of the Emperor.

Controversy in Berlin.

While in Berlin he got into a controversy with the House of Commons professor, Dr. Charles A. Smith of the University of Virginia. Prof. Smith expected to be presented to the Kaiser at a reception at the court reception. Dr. Munsterberg being a German citizen was not eligible for presentation. Prof. Smith was not invited to court at that particular time and he charged his colleague, Munsterberg, with having prevented it on the ground that Prof. Smith should not enjoy a privilege which was denied himself.

Prof. Munsterberg's frequent appearance in newspaper headlines pained some of his old fashioned Harvard brethren. No end of statements labeled "sensational" were made. He was, he said, for example, he started discrediting by saying the Monroe Doctrine was "an obsolete instrument that has outlived its usefulness by twenty-five years."

He lectured elsewhere, he said, for example, he started discrediting by saying the Monroe Doctrine was "an obsolete instrument that has outlived its usefulness by twenty-five years."

He lectured elsewhere, he said, for example, he started discrediting by saying the Monroe Doctrine was "an obsolete instrument that has outlived its usefulness by twenty-five years."

He lectured elsewhere, he said, for example, he started discrediting by saying the Monroe Doctrine was "an obsolete instrument that has outlived its usefulness by twenty-five years."

He lectured elsewhere, he said, for example, he started discrediting by saying the Monroe Doctrine was "an obsolete instrument that has outlived its usefulness by twenty-five years."

He lectured elsewhere, he said, for example, he started discrediting by saying the Monroe Doctrine was "an obsolete instrument that has outlived its usefulness by twenty-five years."

He lectured elsewhere, he said, for example, he started discrediting by saying the Monroe Doctrine was "an obsolete instrument that has outlived its usefulness by twenty-five years."

He lectured elsewhere, he said, for example, he started discrediting by saying the Monroe Doctrine was "an obsolete instrument that has outlived its usefulness by twenty-five years."

He lectured elsewhere, he said, for example, he started discrediting by saying the Monroe Doctrine was "an obsolete instrument that has outlived its usefulness by twenty-five years."

He lectured elsewhere, he said, for example, he started discrediting by saying the Monroe Doctrine was "an obsolete instrument that has outlived its usefulness by twenty-five years."

secured we shall keep the peace not only by the harsh method of enforcing it but by the hundred times better method of making it natural. And it can become natural because all the scores of today will fall off like the scab of a healing wound. Unless all psychological signs deceive us after this war peace will really be lasting—and I feel sure the end of the war is near, the World Christmas Tree will be glittering to-morrow, the fragrance of its candles already pervades the world."

WALLACE WOOD, M. D.

Scholar and Scientific Writer a Victim of Pneumonia.

Wallace Wood, M. D., of 12 East Ninth street, died suddenly yesterday in the Bellevue Hospital as a result of pneumonia. He was a well known scholar and scientific writer and had achieved a unique reputation in several fields of research.

Dr. Wood was born sixty-four years ago in Jamestown, N. Y., but his ancestors came from Concord, Mass. He was related to the Adams family. He was educated abroad and was the author of a number of books on such widely different subjects as "Early Styles in Architecture" and "A New Method in Brain Study." For a number of years he occupied the Samuel F. Morse chair of art in New York University. His remarkable collection of pictures, costumes and relics illustrating the history of civilization is now in New York University.

Funeral services will be held in the funeral home, 1970 Broadway, at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

THOMAS F. BYRNES.

Democratic Leader Dies of Heart Disease in Brooklyn.

Thomas F. Byrnes, Democratic leader of the Eleventh Assembly district of Brooklyn and Under Sheriff of Kings county, died yesterday morning in his home, 392 Sterling place, of heart disease. Mr. Byrnes was born in the old city of Brooklyn in 1846. From 1888 to 1892 he was a member of the Assembly. For years he and Thomas R. Farrell, now leader of the Tenth Assembly district, fought in the primaries for control of the district.

In 1904 Mr. Byrnes was appointed collector of revenue by Comptroller Grant. In 1911 Gov. Wilson named him chairman of the State Tax Commission, to which office he was reappointed by Gov. Glynn. He leaves a widow and two daughters.

CHARLES EDWARD HART.

Rutgers Professor Dies in His New Brunswick Home.

New Brunswick, N. J., Dec. 16.—Charles Edward Hart, D. D., professor emeritus of ethics and evidences of Christianity in Rutgers College and former pastor of the Fourth Street Presbyterian Church of New York, died in his home here today at the age of 78 years.

Dr. Hart was born in Freehold, N. J. He was graduated from Princeton in 1885 and from the Princeton Seminary three years later. He became pastor of the Fourth Street Church in New York in 1888 and in 1890 was appointed professor of English language and literature in Rutgers, a position he held until 1907, when he was given the chair of ethics and evidences of Christianity. He was made emeritus professor in 1906.

George H. Pownall.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—George H. Pownall, president of the Institute of Bankers, died suddenly today at the age of 67 years. He was formerly manager of William Deacon's Bank, Ltd., and was a prominent writer on financial subjects. Since the opening of the war Mr. Pownall had been a member of the American Dollar Securities Committee and had a large part in all war financial adjustments between the Entente Allies and the United States.

Henry Fastenau.

Henry Fastenau, 74 years old, one of the committee of forty of Queens who pushed the building of the present Queensboro bridge, died Friday evening in his home at 515 Hamilton street, Long Island City, where he lived for more than fifty years. He engaged in the building business and made considerable money in real estate. He is survived by one son and a daughter.

Harold Curtis Bullard.

Harold Curtis Bullard, a lawyer, with offices in 111 Broadway, died yesterday in his home, 10 West Sixty-sixth street. He was graduated from Dartmouth with the class of '84. He was a member of the Sons of the Revolution, the New York Athletic Club and the Union League.

David O. Black.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Dec. 16.—David O. Black, former writer and publisher of the Providence Telegram, now the Evening Tribune, and the Pawtucket Evening Times, died at his home here to-night after a long illness. He retired from active newspaper work in 1904. He leaves a widow and ten children.

Gilmore Kinney.

Gilmore Kinney, well known as a college baseball player, having played three years on the Yale team for three years and been captain of that team in 1907, died Friday. He was 32 years old and lived at 104 Afton avenue, Forest Hills, L. I., with his wife and son.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

GUIOMAR NOVAES SHOWS HIGH ART

Gives Beautiful Performance of Beethoven Concerto at Symphony Concert.

WALLACE WOOD, M. D.

Scholar and Scientific Writer a Victim of Pneumonia.

Wallace Wood, M. D., of 12 East Ninth street, died suddenly yesterday in the Bellevue Hospital as a result of pneumonia. He was a well known scholar and scientific writer and had achieved a unique reputation in several fields of research.

Dr. Wood was born sixty-four years ago in Jamestown, N. Y., but his ancestors came from Concord, Mass. He was related to the Adams family. He was educated abroad and was the author of a number of books on such widely different subjects as "Early Styles in Architecture" and "A New Method in Brain Study." For a number of years he occupied the Samuel F. Morse chair of art in New York University. His remarkable collection of pictures, costumes and relics illustrating the history of civilization is now in New York University.

Funeral services will be held in the funeral home, 1970 Broadway, at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

THOMAS F. BYRNES.

Democratic Leader Dies of Heart Disease in Brooklyn.

Thomas F. Byrnes, Democratic leader of the Eleventh Assembly district of Brooklyn and Under Sheriff of Kings county, died yesterday morning in his home, 392 Sterling place, of heart disease. Mr. Byrnes was born in the old city of Brooklyn in 1846. From 1888 to 1892 he was a member of the Assembly. For years he and Thomas R. Farrell, now leader of the Tenth Assembly district, fought in the primaries for control of the district.

In 1904 Mr. Byrnes was appointed collector of revenue by Comptroller Grant. In 1911 Gov. Wilson named him chairman of the State Tax Commission, to which office he was reappointed by Gov. Glynn. He leaves a widow and two daughters.

CHARLES EDWARD HART.

Rutgers Professor Dies in His New Brunswick Home.

New Brunswick, N. J., Dec. 16.—Charles Edward Hart, D. D., professor emeritus of ethics and evidences of Christianity in Rutgers College and former pastor of the Fourth Street Presbyterian Church of New York, died in his home here today at the age of 78 years.

George H. Pownall.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—George H. Pownall, president of the Institute of Bankers, died suddenly today at the age of 67 years. He was formerly manager of William Deacon's Bank, Ltd., and was a prominent writer on financial subjects. Since the opening of the war Mr. Pownall had been a member of the American Dollar Securities Committee and had a large part in all war financial adjustments between the Entente Allies and the United States.

Henry Fastenau.

Henry Fastenau, 74 years old, one of the committee of forty of Queens who pushed the building of the present Queensboro bridge, died Friday evening in his home at 515 Hamilton street, Long Island City, where he lived for more than fifty years. He engaged in the building business and made considerable money in real estate. He is survived by one son and a daughter.

Harold Curtis Bullard.

Harold Curtis Bullard, a lawyer, with offices in 111 Broadway, died yesterday in his home, 10 West Sixty-sixth street. He was graduated from Dartmouth with the class of '84. He was a member of the Sons of the Revolution, the New York Athletic Club and the Union League.

David O. Black.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Dec. 16.—David O. Black, former writer and publisher of the Providence Telegram, now the Evening Tribune, and the Pawtucket Evening Times, died at his home here to-night after a long illness. He retired from active newspaper work in 1904. He leaves a widow and ten children.

Gilmore Kinney.

Gilmore Kinney, well known as a college baseball player, having played three years on the Yale team for three years and been captain of that team in 1907, died Friday. He was 32 years old and lived at 104 Afton avenue, Forest Hills, L. I., with his wife and son.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

Clara Clemens's Recital.

Clara Clemens, contralto, gave her second recital of the present season yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan opera house. The program consisted of Schubert's song cycle, "Die Schöne Müllerin," Ossip Gabrilowitch assisted at the piano by playing the accompaniment.

"La Bohème" at the Opera.

"La Bohème" was sung at the Metropolitan opera house yesterday afternoon. The program was of average merit, without special distinction. The principal singers were Mme. Alda as Mimì, Miss Mason as Musetta, Mr. Martinelli as Rodolfo and Mr. Scotti as Marcello. Mr. Pappalardo conducted.

$1,025 FOR A CHINESE RUG.

The Chinese rugs of the London branch of Samanaka & Co. were sold yesterday at the American Art Association.

The leading rug was $1,025 paid by H. Charles for No. 527, an ancient Kang-hui rug in salmon pink, with a decoration that portrayed the ornaments used in a cultivated household. No. 526, a Chien-lung rug, semi-circular in shape, went to Otto Berner, agent, for $700.

W. W. Seaman, agent, gave $300 for No. 529, a dark red Chien-lung carpet, and $110 for No. 515, a Kang-hui rug. Mrs. C. E. Baker, Jr., paid $540 for No. 516, a Chien-lung rug. E. G. Seymour gave $450 for No. 528, an antique carpet in golden buff. Mr. Donahue bought No. 523, a carpet in French gray, and Mr. Towne paid $225 for No. 534, a rug with a rice grain pattern.

MRS. CARNEGIE BUYS IN LENOX.

To Take the Shadow Brook Property of S. P. Shetter.

Lenox, Mass., Dec. 16.—Spencer P. Shetter has petitioned the probate court for rights necessary for the transfer of his Shadow Brook property to Mrs. Andrew Carnegie. The property will be sold for $200,000.

The Right Rev. Thomas F. Davis, Episcopal Bishop of western Massachusetts, is a guest of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. George G. Merrill in Stockbridge.

At the Lenox Club are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele, Mr. and Mrs. James N. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. DeLaford, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Frothingham, Mrs. Kenneth Marchmont, Ralph Tancet and Clark G. Voorhees.

Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt will return to New York from her winter home at the Lenox Club early next week to pass the holidays.

Grenville L. Winthrop and the Misses Emily and Kate Winthrop have closed Grosvenor Place and returned to New York. Mrs. Wallace M. Briggs of Boston has leased Miss Mabel Chase's cottage in Stockbridge for the winter, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Hanna of Cleveland have taken the Rockwell cottage for the winter months.

U. S. BUYS AVIATION GROUND.

War Department Plans to Make It Foremost Station of World.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The War Department has purchased about 1,700 acres of land on lower Chesapeake Bay near Fort Monro, for use as an aviation experimental and proving ground for the army. The price paid was $250,000, appropriated by Congress at the last session.

War Department officials estimate that $1,500,000 will be asked of Congress for building and equipments with the idea of making it one of the foremost stations of the kind in the world outside of countries now engaged in war.

WILLS AND APPRAISALS.

HARRY F. ROBINSON, also known as Henry F. Willard, died November 22, 1916, at his home, 235 West 10th street, New York. He was a member of the Church of the Messiah and performed the ceremony, with only relatives and intimate friends present.

MRS. JANE M. BEADLE, died June 2, 1916, at her home, 235 West 10th street, New York. She was a member of the Church of the Messiah and performed the ceremony, with only relatives and intimate friends present.

Mrs. Helen Wallace, daughter of Mrs. William Copeland Wallace and the late Mrs. Wallace, was married to Dr. Harry Keldner Reynolds, son of Lewis Franklin Reynolds of Aberdeen, Md., last evening in the Dutch Garden, Clinton avenue, Brooklyn. The Rev. Dr. St. Clair Hester of the Church of the Messiah performed the ceremony, with only relatives and intimate friends present.

The full court train on the bride's wedding gown, of white tulle and old lace, was the only worn by her. Mrs. Wallace was presented at the Court of St. James in 1905. The lace was worn by her mother when a bride.

There were no bridesmaids, but two small nephews of the bridegroom, Lewis and Harry Reynolds, acted as ring bearers.

REYNOLDS-WALLACE.

Brooklyn Physician Weds Daughter of the Late General.

Mrs. Helen Wallace, daughter of Mrs. William Copeland Wallace and the late Mrs. Wallace, was married to Dr. Harry Keldner Reynolds, son of Lewis Franklin Reynolds of Aberdeen, Md., last evening in the Dutch Garden, Clinton avenue, Brooklyn. The Rev. Dr. St. Clair Hester of the Church of the Messiah performed the ceremony, with only relatives and intimate friends present.

The full court train on the bride's wedding gown, of white tulle and old lace, was the only worn by her. Mrs. Wallace was presented at the Court of St. James in 1905. The lace was worn by her mother when a bride.

There were no bridesmaids, but two small nephews of the bridegroom, Lewis and Harry Reynolds, acted as ring bearers.

REYNOLDS-WALLACE.

Brooklyn Physician Weds Daughter of the Late General.